Manchester Groupwork Course

An Introduction to Group Analysis

Are you interested in groups?

If you are a clinician, if you lead or supervise teams or, if you are dealing with major changes in your organisation, then you should consider this course

A one year course that provides an excellent foundation for the practice of group psychotherapy and an understanding of the way groups work. The course fulfills entry requirement for full psychotherapy training and it is accredited by the Institute of Group Analysis in London.

Held at The Red House in Swinton, Manchester, the course runs from September 2010 to July 2011 over ten partial weekend blocks, commencing on a Friday afternoon and finishing on Saturday afternoon and it offers:

- Group analytic experience in stranger groups
- Large group experience
- Theory seminars and lectures

Fees: £999.00 (Bursaries available)

Last group interviews to be held in August 2010, places limited—apply early!
